Famous Dog Earns Riches for Master

Canine Actor, Known Over All Europe, Leaps, Juggles And Rides Like a Man.

"Toque" is coming to Alma Thursday, July 18, with Ringling Bros. World's greatest shows. "Toque" is just a dog, but by no means a common dog. He has no pedigree, but he has a reputation that extends all over Europe and he has made a fortune for Alfred Loyal, who owns him.

"Toque" is a wonderful equestrian. He turns single and double summersaults on a horse's back, stands on his head in the saddle, and while sitting upright on the horse's back catches on his nose rings and clown caps tossed to him by Loyal. While the trainer stands in the saddle he perches himself head down on the man's head.

"Toque" is also a wonderful acrobat. He runs down an incline to a springboard and leaps lengthwise over the heads of a row of ten men, turning two summersaults on the way.

In special entertainment for the children this season's circus is remarkably strong. A troupe of baby elephant performers appeals particularly to the young folks. They are the best kind of fun-makers and quite as clever as the three herds of full-grown elephants which perform in one big number. One of these youngsters walks on a rolling ball, guiding it all around the ring. Another sits in the seat of a wagon and drives like a man, a companion in full harness playing the part of horse. They play on Swiss bells, they play at "drop-the-handkerchief" just like a party of children, they skip the rope, stand on their heads, play leap frog, tennis and baseball.

In addition to these dumb actors, there are whole troupes and groups of funny old bears, seals and sealions, fox-terriers, collie dogs, geese, pigs and Shetland ponies.

This season's program opens with the mammoth spectacle of romance and chivalry, "In Days of Old." The animal acts, antics of 80 funny clowns and fully a thousand arenic novelties follow the great pantomime.

STATE FAIR EXECUTIVE ATTAINS SUCCESS

G. W. Dickinson Forces Michigan Exposition Into Ranks of Five Largest Fairs in the United States. Attributes Achievement to Support Given by the Farmers of the State.

Man's success in life is measured ordinarily, by those benefits which he has secured for his fellowman and derived for himself.

It is this standard which is accepted by the board of directors of the Michigan State Fair, year after year, in selecting G. W. Dickinson as Secretary-Manager of the association.

Michigan may well be proud of its state fair, for within the past five years it has grown by leaps and bounds, until, today it is considered one of the largest and greatest fairs in the United States. The farmer of Michigan is, in reality, the promoter and the beneficiary of the state fair. It is his own institution and the Michigan farmer has raised his exhibition to a point where it has few peers. It has been during Mr. Dickinson's tenure as executive officer that the annual exposition has succeeded in reaching the top, where it knows no superior.

The Secretary-Manager took the reigns of office five years ago. Since accepting the position he has lived, breathed and dreamed Michigan State Fair. It has occupied his entire attention for 24 hours each day for the past five years, until he is now in charge of an institution of which every resident of Michigan may speak with pride. Mr. Dickinson was not unknown to the people of the state before taking the office. For years he was identified with the railroad business in Michigan. Six years prior to associating himself with the state fair he was a member of the Michigan Railroad Commission, and left Lansing to accept the Detroit position. During his private life at Pontiac, Mr. Dickinson has been recognized as a successful merchant, banker and farmer. Even now, he maintains one of the finest farms in Oakland county where he is continually carrying on agricultural experiments and breeding registered cattle. And it is through being in constant contact with the agricultural and stock breeding conditions of the state that he has been able to place the Michigan State Fair on its present pedestal.
